

ROLE OF A CHAIRPERSON

Note: In addition to the general responsibilities of a trustee, duties of the chair include the following.

- Providing leadership to the organisation and the board by ensuring that everyone remains focused on the delivery of the organisation's charitable purposes in order to provide greater public benefit
- Chairing and facilitating board meetings
- Giving direction to board policy-making
- Checking that decisions taken at meetings are implemented
- Representing the organisation at functions and meetings, and acting as a spokesperson as appropriate
- Bringing impartiality and objectivity to decision-making
- With the senior officer:
  - Planning the annual cycle of board meetings and other general meetings where required, for example annual general meeting
  - Setting agendas for board and other general meetings
  - Developing the board of trustees including induction, training, appraisal, and succession planning
  - Addressing conflict within the board and within the organisation, and liaising with the senior officer (if staff are employed) to achieve this
- Where staff are employed:
  - Liaising with the senior officer to keep an overview of the organisation's affairs and to provide support as appropriate
  - Leading the process of supporting and appraising the performance of the senior officer
  - Sitting on appointment and disciplinary panels
- The vice-chair acts for the chair when the chair is not available and undertakes assignments at the request of the chair

Person specification

In addition to the person specification for a trustee, the chair should have the following qualities.

- Leadership skills
- Experience of committee work
- Tact and diplomacy
- Good communication and interpersonal skills
- Impartiality, fairness, and the ability to respect confidences.

In most circumstances, it would also be desirable for the chair/vice-chair to have knowledge of the type of work undertaken by the organisation and a wider involvement with the voluntary sector and other networks.
